Portfolio Review

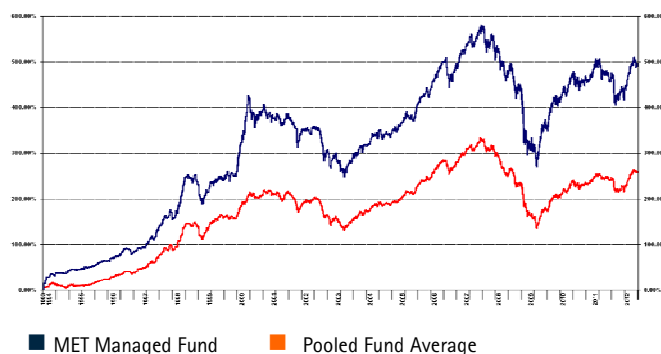

Equity markets sold off early in the month before recovering to end the month down 0.5% in euro terms.

At a broad sector level, healthcare was the best performer in May, rising by 1.0% in euro terms (+5.0% year-to-date), followed by consumer cyclicals (+0.9% on the month, +9.3% year-to-date). Technology was the worst performing sector, falling by 1.8% on the month (+14.9% year-to-date). Financials also fared poorly, falling by 1.6% on the month (+11.1% year-to-date), however this disguises the very weak performance of euro-zone banks, which fell by 15.2% over the month for a year-to-date return fall -8.7%.

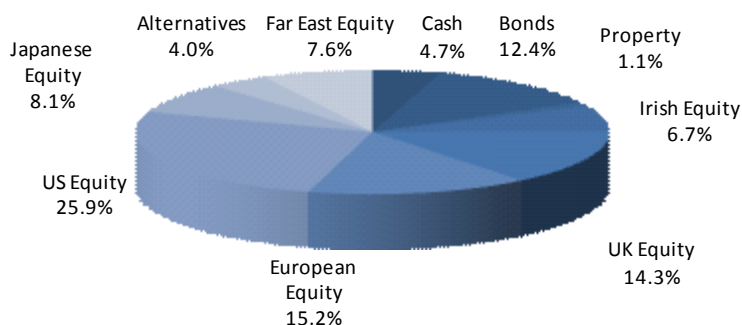

At a regional level, Europe was the worst performer, falling by 5.7% on the month (+3.2% year-to-date), followed by Japan (-2.8% on the month, +3.3% year-to-date). China performed strongly, the Hang Seng rising by 3.5% on the month (+12.2% year-to-date) and the Shanghai composite rising by 6.5% on the month (+6.6% year-to-date).

We increased the fund's equity weighting during the month, focussing on basic materials, energy and industrials at a sector level, and the US, UK and Japan at a regional level. At the end of April the fund was overweight energy, healthcare and basic materials and underweight telecoms and utilities. Within fixed interest, we increased our Italian exposure and reduced our Irish exposure. Periphery bond market exposure remains focused on Italian bonds, with no exposure to Spain or Portugal. The fund remains underweight German bonds and overweight Austrian and Belgian bonds.
